

Seminar Announcement:

Christians and Neighbours of Different Faiths

Overview:

This seminar has been conducted across the UK over recent years to address the evolving multicultural and multi-ethnic landscape of the country. It focuses on the principles of evangelism, aiming to equip Christians with a better understanding of how to share the gospel with people of other faiths. Never before now have so many come to follow Christ.

- ◆ Modern Communication: Advances in technology, particularly the internet and social media, have made it easier for people to access information and engage in religious discussions, which might contribute to this trend.
- ◆ Stories of personal transformation and experiences, often shared widely online, can influence others and inspire curiosity and exploration of different faiths.
- ◆ Political and social upheaval has led individuals to seek spiritual solace and answers in new or different religious traditions.
- ◆ It also underscores the importance of dialogue and understanding between different faith communities.

Goals:

- Transition from fear to faith
- Move from ignorance to compassion
- Shift from legalism to contextual approaches

Topics covered:

- The history of Islam
- Basics and development of Islam
- Common ground between Christianity and Islam
- Overview of various Islamic sects
- Roots of Islamic law and the Quran's role in unifying conquered peoples into the Arabic community

Dr Ron George and his wife Nancy have spent over 50 years as missionaries to the Muslim world, spending 17 of those years with Operation Mobilisation alongside George Verwer. Ron has lived in various Islamic countries such as Iran, as well as studying at the School of Oriental and African Studies. He has pioneered three organisations: People International, World in Need and, most recently, the Eurasia Education Foundation. Ron currently facilitates Christian literature translation into native Central Asian languages, regularly teaches Mission and Islamics at a charitable university in Moldova, and travels to educate communities within the UK about Islam and Christian witness to Muslims.

Join us for a day of learning, discussion, and prayer
as we explore effective communication and evangelism in a diverse society.

MORE Muslims have come to meet the Messiah in our generation than in all of history put together. God is at work and honouring His Son.
